And yet, the end isn't really . . .

MOODS
77

Afraid we run
Excited we climb
  to the highest mountain and can't get down.
Anxious we hurry,
Confused we cry
  for the circles of daylight go round and round
Saddened, alone,
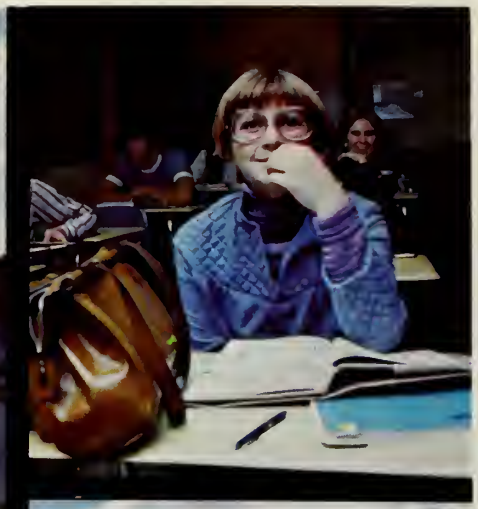
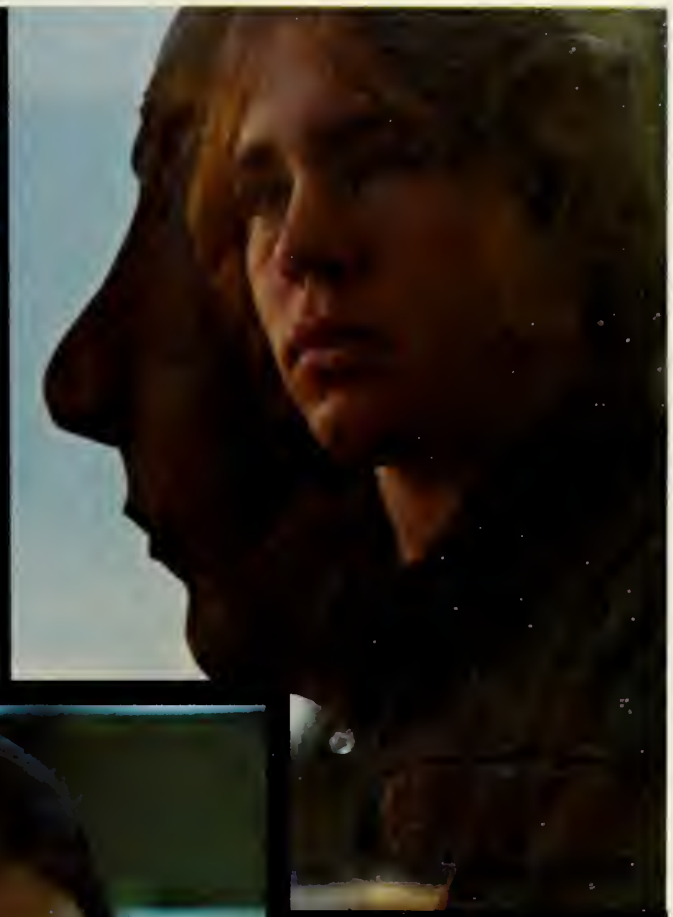
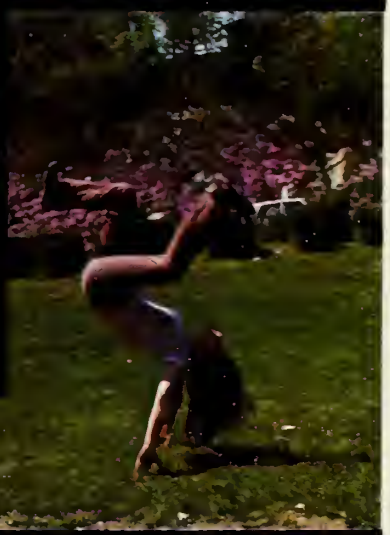
Hoping we're not the only ones hiding from Time's ugly frown.
Nervous we panic
Frustrated we scream
  to the deep sea of living "Don't let us drown!"
Happy we made it
Worried we pray
  that the sun setting low still means a new day.







Dear Santa, . . .

"Come on, put em up! Put em up!"

Phil finds philosophy fascinating.

Ed's mind is always on his work.

Who knows what evil lurks in the hearts of men?

I wonder if she'd go to the prom with me?

What did that say?

Up against the wall.

"Double, double toil and trouble
Fire burn, and caldron bubble."

"What's that smell, biology or lunch?"

Seniors

These Were the Good Old Days

We watched an entire nation over-do the bicentennial, and each of us sat back and hopelessly fell in love with Nadia Comaneci and Dorothy Hammill. We were the first class to witness the birth of the Joey Stivick doll, complete with entire male anatomy, and we watched Barbie's younger sister, Skipper, reach puberty with a move of her arm. We gained a lifetime of knowledge from Mary Hartman, and adopted the "Fonz," Vinnie Barbarino, and the Six Million Dollar Man as our T.V. heroes. . . . Everyone listened intently to Gary Gilmore's death-wish plea, and to Bob Dylan's song of the injustice done to Reuben "Hurricane" Carter . . . We held our breath at the time of the Argo Merchant oil spill. None of us knew that Liberia existed until their ships began dumping millions of gallons of oil into American waters . . . We were the first class in years to have our basements painted. In our sophomore year we were granted the long awaited priviledge for which many classes before us had fought: we were allowed to smoke (tobacco) at lunch . . . We watched two races battle over busing in Southie, and saw an unknown named Jimmy Carter defeat a president we didn't elect. In just a few short months we became sick to death of hearing about Rosalynn, Amy, brother Billy, and Miss Lillian, and became equally sick of the C.B. radio boom . . . In our senior year nature gave us something the school committee hadn't: an extra vacation and a lot of snow to shovel . . . Most of us suffered through S.A.T.'s and then delved into the tedious work of filling out college applications; then waited, hoping, with our fingers crossed . . . We traveled in caravans to the Eagles-Fleetwood Mac concert at Schaeffer Stadium, and a few months later sat before our T.V. sets and watched the Patriots get robbed in Oakland. We cried for Jack Nicholson in "Cuckoo's Nest," and all the girls drooled over Roger Daltrey in "Tommy" . . . We partied at the New Beach, were one of the last classes to make full use of the "REZ" and invented half day parties on Great Hill . . . We were disappointed when the drive-in was torn down, and each of us did his part to keep the Weymouth Police Force on its toes.

These are just a few of the experiences that have set the moods of the Class of 1977, but they do not even begin to make a dent in the things we will experience individually in the years ahead.

Dear Graduate,

Just as moods vary between yesterday, today and tomorrow, so too have your experiences been during your high school years. As graduates you are experiencing the exhilarating mood of happiness as you look forward to the future. While experiencing this rapture, however, it is most important to make a wise appraisal of your yesterdays, for this becomes the foundation of your tomorrow. In looking back, you will see successes and failures which collectively make up today. Don't sell yourself short in your appraisal. Don't underestimate your abilities. Move forward from today with confidence!

Real success and happiness is measured by the contribution one makes to life. The world has many needs, many things you can do; find them and make your contribution, experiencing again and again the mood of happiness. The better world begins with you.

Good luck, Graduate, and best wishes.

Sincerely,

John F Collins

REMEMBER THIS

IF YOU WORK FOR A MAN, in Heaven's name, WORK for him. • If he pays you wages which supply you bread and butter, work for him; speak well of him; stand by him and stand by the institution he represents. • If put to a pinch, an ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness. • If you must vilify, condemn and eternally disparage—resign your position, and when you are outside, damn to your heart's content, but as long as you are part of the institution do not condemn it. • If you do that, you are loosening the tendrils that are holding you to the institution, and at the first high wind that comes along, you will be uprooted and blown away, and probably will never know the reason why.

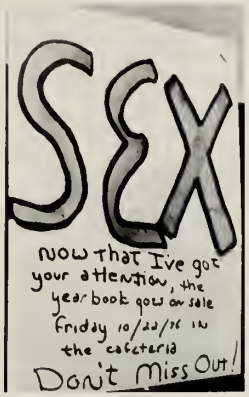
Ellen wrestles with another problem.

"Sorry, Charlie."



The real Jack Hynes

"What am I gonna do, Craig!"

Crackerbox Palace

We began, determined, enthusiastic, naive. "What's the theme again?" It didn't matter. Whatever it was we were certain that, "Richard could draw it!" First we waged the great pronoun war: "We" vs. "You". "We" won . . . We forged ahead and aced the first sixteen, in spite of the fact that Cathie missed dinner. The voc section was bequeathed to Greg; the ad staff broke all records, but advisor freak-outs became more frequent as the next deadline approached: The Directory! The problems seemed insurmountable, but Mrs. St. John's typing class and our merciless editors saved us.

Once again, we had made it. Yet another monstrous deadline loomed ahead. We stumbled on, groping blindly. Debbie searched frantically for Coastal Corporation. "Where's Charlie?" "Do we have pictures yet?" Neurosis and panic mounted. Clearly it was time for an "all nighter". We stormed the coke machines . . . and sent out for pizza. We feasted in the teacher's room, giggling over "No-Arms" and pepperoni. Then back to work, but already fatigue highs were setting in. Ed's head was dead. Amanda entertained us with her famous pizza-puppet routine while Frances created unprintable captions and Paul made highly artistic decisions about senior section candids. When the night was over it was dimly clear that we might make it again . . . until the great week-long snow day. A snow day emergency meeting was called. The trusty staff trudged in . . . while Dick Switched and headed south. That 70 pages went to press . . . and the next deadline reared its ugly head. We agonized over school activities. "Does anyone know who this is?" Untimely exams threatened to dissipate staff enthusiasm. But Jane Jr. typed on and Ellen slaved over superlatives. Once again it was time for an "all nighter." This time, Craig vetoed pepperoni, but Paul and Frances insisted. Kathy Kelley relayed phone messages to everyone's parents and Ms. Cornell suffered nicotine withdrawal — but we got it in on time. As the end seemed near, the staff, sustained only by visions of the yearbook bash, struggled to retain the last vestiges of sanity. When last seen, the yearbook advisors would only say, "Ask Paul."

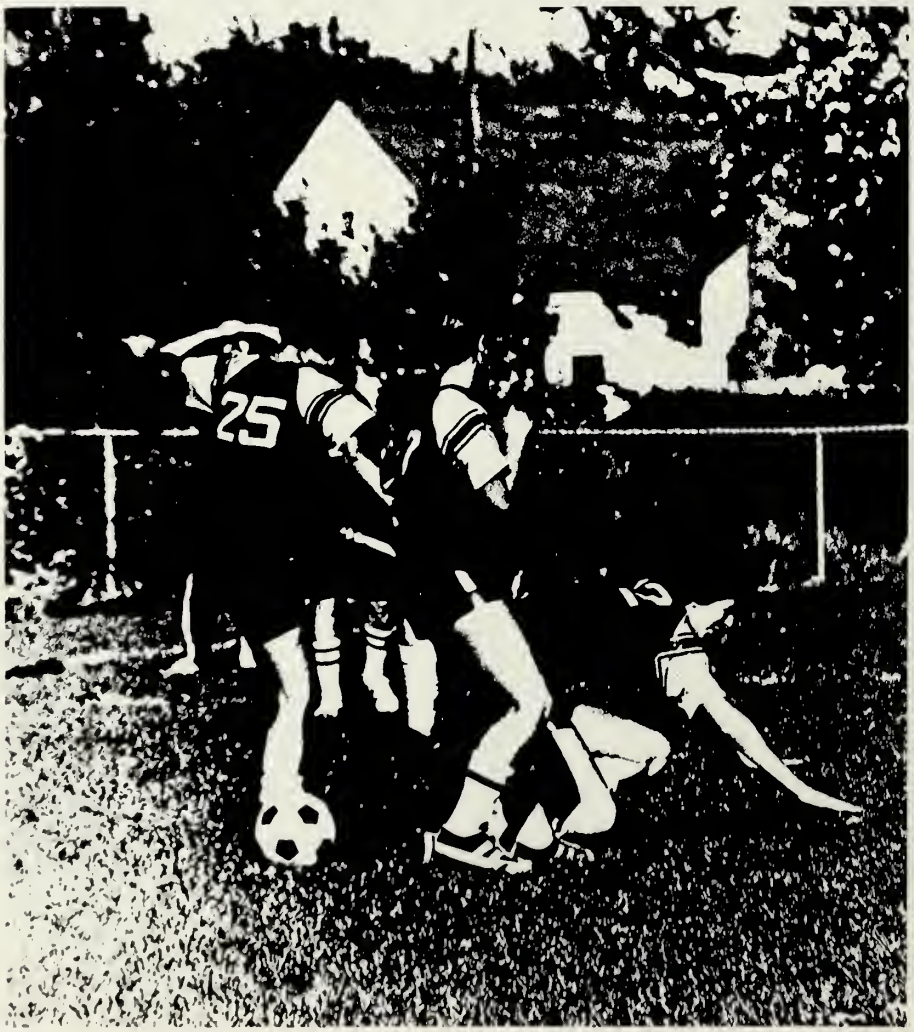
"Uhh!"

Boys' Varsity Soccer

The best varsity record in the soccer team's three year existence (8 wins, 8 losses, 2 ties) was achieved this year under the direction of Coach Stephen Shoff and the leadership of seniors Robert Wagner and Mark Wyman. Important victories were Brockton (2-1), Brookline (1-10) and, of course, the annual subjugation of Weymouth South. Outstanding players were R. Mills, J. Shields, M. Rafferty, E. Weissmeyer and M. Dempsey.



Girls' Soccer

The single victory over powerhouse Wellesley (1-0 in o.t.) was the highlight of the girls' soccer team's 1-9-2 first season. The teams coach, Mr. Richard Hayes said the girls were "looking for the improvement of their skills and they did improve." Outstanding players were B. Ruane and G. Lypscon.

Cross Country

A one point victory over Quincy proved to be the high point of the boys' cross country season. The team, under the direction of Mr. Paul Fuller and the leadership of senior Mark Driscoll, placed fifth with a record of 5-5. Outstanding runners were M. Driscoll, D. Sheehan, S. Merrill, R. Maltz and R. Evans.

The girls' cross country team, coached by Mr. William Wilson, finished the season with a 2-7 record, beating Bridgewater and Quincy. In the Suburban League Meet North's outstanding runners S. Garbarczuk finished 6th, N. Flynn finished 12th and L. Svizzero finished 17th.
